

How much does a meter of 36-core optical fiber cable cost

Article Overview

A 36-core optical fiber cable typically costs between $1.50 and $4.50 per meter, depending on fiber type, construction, and manufacturer.

Price Breakdown

The cost of fiber optic cable depends on several factors:

- Fiber Type: Single-mode (OS1/OS2) cables are generally less expensive than multimode (OM3/OM4) cables. Single-mode 36-core cables usually range from $1.50 to $3.00 per meter, while multimode 36-core cables can cost $2.50 to $4.50 per meter .
- Cable Construction: Armored or direct-burial cables are more expensive due to added protection. Armored 36-core cables may add $0.50 to $1.50 per meter to the base price .
- Brand and Quality: Premium glass fiber (e.g., Corning) ensures lower attenuation and higher reliability, which can increase the price compared to generic glass .
- Bulk Purchase: Buying in bulk can reduce the per-meter cost, especially for wholesale orders .

Practical Considerations

- Installation Costs: The quoted prices are for the cable itself. Installation, splicing, connectors, and trenching can significantly increase total project costs
