

Multimedia Box and Distribution Box Manufacturer

Article Overview

Leading manufacturers of distribution and multimedia boxes include Rubber Box, Weidmüller, Junon Electrical, and BOXEXPERT, offering solutions for power, signal, and multimedia distribution.

Key Manufacturers and Their Offerings

1. Rubber Box Rubber Box specializes in power distribution boxes for events, film, television, and entertainment industries worldwide. Their products are designed for robust, portable, and reliable power distribution in demanding environments . 2. Weidmüller Weidmüller provides flexible distribution boxes for modular and decentralized solutions, supporting both signal and power transmission up to IP67 protection class. Their FieldPower® system combines busbar trunking and standard cables for safe, pluggable connections, suitable for industrial automation and sensor-actuator networks . 3. Junon Electrical Junon manufactures multimedia junction boxes (V20 series) for home and commercial applications, supporting fiber-to-the-home, TV, telephone, computer, audio/video, and security systems. Features include built-in cooling fans, optical fiber splice trays, reinforced steel construction, and provisions for external antennas and routers. These boxes are flush-mounted and compatible with modular functional units . 4. BOXEXPERT BOXEXPERT offers surface-mounted multimedia distributors (DISBOX-XA series) with IP40 protection, made from high-quality ABS. They provide multiple housing sizes, low installation height, flexible cable routing, and options for router mounting, Schuko sockets, and security locks. Customization is available for automation systems, EMC-critical applications, and pr...
