

Three-year warranty for edge data center IP65

Article Overview

Certain IP65-rated edge data center products, such as Tripp Lite EdgeReady micro data centers, offer a three-year extendable warranty covering hardware components.

Warranty Overview

Many ruggedized edge data center solutions, including IP65-rated servers and micro data centers, come with limited hardware warranties. For example, Tripp Lite's EdgeReady micro data centers include a two-year limited warranty that can be extended to three years, covering bare-metal hardware components . Edgecore Networks also provides warranties for its products, typically effective from the date of purchase or manufacture, and may extend up to three years depending on product lifecycle and end-of-life announcements .

IP65 Edge Data Center Considerations

IP65-rated systems are designed for harsh outdoor or industrial environments, offering protection against dust ingress and low-pressure water jets . These ruggedized servers often include high-reliability components such as DDR4/DDR5 ECC memory, NVMe SSDs, PCIe expansion slots, and M12 waterproof connectors, which are critical for mission-critical edge computing, AI workloads, and 5G deployments . When evaluating warranty coverage for IP65 edge systems, consider:

- Hardware coverage: Typically includes bare-metal servers, chassis, and integrate...
